

Dear Friends of the Santa Cruz Chorale,

The Santa Cruz Chorale invites you to join us for our 35th season. In addition to our traditional Christmas concert with music from around the world, we are bringing New Choir back, because of your warm response to their music this recent March. Our season concludes in April with Handel and Bach. Please make a note of the concert dates on your calendar, as they are different from past seasons. Generous donations from you have made it possible to have professional instrumentalists join us for both the December and April concerts. We thank you for your continued support and hope to see you this season.

Christian Grube, the Chorale's Artistic Director, is Emeritus Professor of Choral Conducting at the Berlin University of Arts. His choirs are known for their superb sound, impeccable intonation, broad range of dynamic expression, and ability to interpret the most diverse styles. They have been praised for their rendition of motets, madrigals and masses of the Renaissance, and also for their performances of romantic and modern choral works. On one of the three U.S. tours of his Chamber Choir, the reviewer of the Washington Post called the performance in Washington, D.C., "the best choral concert I have heard this year."

New Choir
Eileen Chang, Artistic Director

In response to the enthusiastic acclaim and warm reception at their performance this past season, the New Choir returns to Santa Cruz in a program of music celebrating the joy, promise and hope of the dawning day and the mystery, melancholy and awe of the peaceful, comforting night. The program will explore the passing hours of the day as portrayed in the Renaissance madrigals of John Wilbye and Claudio Monteverdi, the Romantic harmonies of Schubert, Brahms and Mendelssohn, the introspective settings of modern poetry by Samuel Barber and Benjamin Britten, as well as the jubilant depictions of the new day in the world to come expressed in traditional spirituals and more!

Several years ago, a faithful friend of the Chorale said he would love to hear the Chorale perform G.F. Handel's grand Dettingen Te Deum. In fulfilling his wish, we hope to bring pleasure to many. The cantata Lobe den Herren (Praise the Lord), by Handel's famous contemporary J.S. Bach, will be presented as a fitting complement to the Te Deum.
